General Notes (Husband) 2

The shipwrecked passengers from the "Netherby" were transported on a couple of steamers to Melbourne. George and some other passengers left King Island at dawn on Friday 27th July 1866 on the steamer "Victoria" arriving at Williamstown that night. They landed the following morning at 9.00 am and were taken by train into Melbourne.

On Tuesday 31st July George departed on the steamer "City of Melbourne" for Brisbane, stopping at Sydney where George saw "Tom Tom" (his brother?) also on his way to Brisbane, before arriving in Moreton Bay on Sunday afternoon, 5th August. They were taken by small steamboat up the river to Brisbane on the Monday morning, arriving about noon, "where I soon found a good brother". [Summary from letter written by George to his mother in England.]
